NO CHANCE FOR OWENS' RECOVERY

INFECTION FROM WOUNDS IS NOW OVERWHELMING

PYHICIANS HOLD OUT NO HOPE FOR MAN INJURED IN AUTOMO-BILE ACCIDENT ON THE OCEAN BEACH.

That C. W. Owens must pay with his life for his ride on the ocean beach Thursday of last week, when his car collided with an Elmore car owned by the Ormond garage, is now the conclusion of the attending physicians at Dr. Bohannon's hospital, where the injured man has been since the accident.

Up to last night hopes were held out for the recovery of the injured man but this afternoon the physicians admit that Owens cannot live more than a day or two at most and he may die at any time. Gangrene has set in and the infection is overwhelming in spite of the constant irrigation which has been kept up steadily by the hospital authorities.

Dr. Walter, the house physician, stated this afternoon that the chances for recovery were very remote and that Owens was not holding his own. He says that possibly the patient may last for a day or two, but no longer. Irrigation of the numerous wounds with powerful disinfectants has been kept up steadily in the hope of combating the infection but the poison is rapidly spreading and there seems little hope of stopping its ravages.

FLORIDA HOME LAND CO.

MUDDLE AMICABLY SETTLED
SETTLERS WILL BE PROTECTED
IN COLONY AT CELERY CITY AND GET CLEAR TITLES TO PROPERTY.

A document has been filed in circuit court at Deland whereby the Hodges, O'Hara & Russell company agree to protect all purchasers of property near what is known as Celery City, in the southern part of Volusia county. It will be remembered that the Florida Home Land company, of which A. S. Mann was president, contracted with the Hodges, O'Hara & Russell company for a large tract of land, which was sold to settlers in small pieces. The Florida Home Land company defaulted in its payments and the Hodges, O'Hara & Russell company instituted foreclosure proceedings. The conclusion of this suit would have deprived the settlers of their possessions as the Florida Home Land company had conveyed land subject to the mortgage.

In order to protect the settlers, however, the Hodges, O'Hara & Russell company, released the property, which the settlers had purchased, from the mortgage and will continue the foreclosure proceedings on the balance of the tract.

COUNTY TAX BOOKS
CLOSE APRIL FIRST.

Tax Collector D. P. Smith has given warning that the tax books of Volusia county close on April 1st. All taxes, real and personal, must be paid by that time or become delinquent and subject to additional cost. Mr. Smith's postoffice address is New Smyrna.

TAFT MAY VETO WOOL
BILL OF DEMOCRATS

HOUSE TODAY RECEIVES BOTH MAJORITY AND MINORITY RE-PORTS ON REVISION OF SCHEDULE.

WASHINGTON, March 27 — The house today received both the majority and minority reports on the bills for revising the wool schedules introduced respectively by democratic and republican members of the ways and means committee.

The democratic report attacked the data gathered by the tariff board and defended the ad valorem rates provided in the majority measure. The minority report praised the work of the tariff board and declares specific rates most inequitable.

A hint that President Taft will veto the democratic bill is contained in the closing paragraph of the minority report.

Tom Zuber, who came home from St. Augustine last week and was to have returned to that city Monday, was unable to do so, owing to his having received a bad cut on the leg from a piece of glass or shell while wrestling with a companion.

W. R. Babington is in the city for about a week's stay, having arrived yesterday from the west coast near Tampa, where he is now located. Mr. Babington was summoned here by the serious illness of his mother, Mrs. M. Babington, of Bay street, who, however, is somewhat better today.

Watch Daytona Grow

Watch it through the columns of The Daytona-Gazette News. It is published every Saturday the year round. More improvements will be made in Daytona and vicinity during the coming summer than for several years past, and you will want, of course, to keep abreast with the progress of the community.

It gives you more local news than all other local papers of Volusia combined. Many of the little personals about persons with whom you are acquainted will also interest you.

The subscription price is but $1.50 a year, and we give you a useful pair of SHEARS as a premium if you subscribe before the supply is exhausted.

It will tell you of the improvements that are being made during the summer when you are at your northern abode.

Looking For A Hero

Mary Mastin was going to see the great football game between the home university and the Wisteria university. Her brother was a Wisteria alumna of both the college of arts and the college of law. Being a romantic and ingenious young person of 18, Mary had informed Jim that she was sure going to fall in love with some football hero.

"The handsome Greek god, who, when all seems lost, saves the day for old Wisteria or the slender boy whom the rest thought too light for the game who gets around the end and scores for old Illigan, and when he doesn't rise where he fell in making the touchdown they find he has been playing the last quarter with a broken rib—oh, I shall fall in love with some one of them," said Mary, with dancing eyes.

"Bosh," said Jim, stolidly. "There were no handsome Greek gods on any team I ever saw."

"Well, there'll be one hero, certainly, and when he's carried off the field, suffering terribly, but not a word of complaint escaping his lips, and I'll send him some flowers and he'll bury his face in them, tears starting from his eyes."

"As the girls do in those fierce yards purporting to be college stories. To my notion a football game affords about as much chance for a real story as a game of chess," declared Jim. "I never read a football story that wasn't punk. Hi, look at that now!"

The visiting contingent of Wisteria undergraduates, 1,100 strong, headed by their band, was progressing around the track that encircled the gridiron, in an astonishing chorale dance. It was at once a cake walk, a minuet and gigantic quadrille. With their steps in ordered rhythm, their hands branched aloft in triumphant gestures in unison with the cadence of their high lifted feet, they wound in and out.

"Why, it's charming. No, it's awe inspiring!" exclaimed the girl, looking through her field glass. "Who's that leading them? Isn't he handsome?"

"That's Bill Howard, the hottest alumni rooter of them all."

"And look at those people! box down there! How excited they are! Alumni and their wives, of course. Isn't it fine to see the alumni so enthusiastic and loyal!"

"Alumni nothing," growled Jim. "That's a bunch of brooks with big bets on the game, probably on the visiting team, for fellows like that would be likely to back a university outside their own state."

Suddenly there burst forth from the bleachers where Wisteria students were massed a huge roar of inarticulate, mindless sound. The Wisteria team had hunkered out on the field. All possible comeliness of face and form was hidden by the ungainly garb, so Mary hardly looked at the players. Her glass swept the line of yellmatters, picturesques, well tailored slim youths, gay with ribbons, waving pennants in a frenzy.

"That one in the middle is such a dear," she said.

"That's Red Robertson," said Jim. "He roomed with me when he was a freshman and I a senior law. He's the head yellmaster."

"Does he ever play?"

"Play? He's too pretty to play. A man who ties a necktie the way he does wouldn't play. He hasn't the beef, though."

"He's awfully graceful, and so quick. I know he could play if he wanted to."

Illigan won. It didn't matter much to Mary, for Red Robertson at the close of the game had sought them out, anxious to see Jim, though he hardly noticed Jim after he had been presented to Mary. He steered her through the multitude. Some football men passed. They moved heavily, awkwardly. Quick enough on the field in action, they seemed out of their element now, like crabs on land.

"Hackaday is bowlegged in his arms as well as in his legs, isn't he?" said Jim. "Good player, though. Where'd they get him?"

"Bill Hands, '96, when he was up hunting two years ago, saw him poling logs in the river, and got him down here," explained Robertson. "Bill is the man who got Dike, too. Dike was driving a cab in Denver. A corking good alumnus, is Bill."

"What! Do colleges still hire professional players?" asked Mary.

"No. But there are still organizations called Alumni Students' Aid associations that loan money to men whom they want to see get a college education and the men they want to see do that are liable to be fine athletes."

"Are there no football heroes?" demanded Mary. "No boys who weep over the defeat of their team? Nobody for me to give my roses to for him to weep into?"

"Yes, there are some real students on every team and perhaps some day they'll all be real as they used to be in the old days. But the fellows who weep over defeat are mostly on the bleachers. I've lost a big bet and I'd like to weep. Won't you give me the roses?"

"It's a dreadful disillusionment," said Mary. "I meant them for half back, not a yellmaster, but here are the roses."—Chicago Daily News.

Linguistic Donnybrook.

"I observe that the natives of Terre Haute are indulging in a controversy over the proper pronunciation of the name of their fair city," said the commercial traveler. "Some insist upon the good old home 'Terry Hut,' while the more cultured, affecting horror at such provincialism, declare it should be 'Tearah-Hote,' and still others prefer 'Tear-Eautay.'

"I see opportunities for extensive trouble in this discussion. What if other places which have suffered by rank Anglicizing in their names should follow the example of the Indiana town?
The result would be a linguistic Donnybrook. Consider the possibilities of these common methods of pronunciation."

Every normal person is born with a

ANTS ARE SMART GARDENERS

They Are Known to Grow Grain, Sowing and Harvesting Like Real Farmers.

Man is not the only animal who has discovered the division of the vegetable world into weeds on the one hand and garden plants on the other.
Our ingenious little six-legged workers, the ants, have anticipated us in this, as in so many other useful inventions and discoveries. There are ants in Texas which grow grain, and each nest owns a small claim in the vicinity of its mound on which it cultivates a kind of grass, commonly known as ant rice.

The claim is circular, about ten or twelve feet in diameter, and the ants allow no plant but the ant rice to encroach upon the cleared space anywhere.

The produce of the crop they care fully harvest, though authorities are still disagreed upon the final question whether they plant the grain or merely allow it to sow its own seed on the protected area.

One thing, however, is certain—that no other plant is permitted to sprout on the tabooed patch. The ants wage war on weeds far more vigorously and effectively than our own agriculturists.

COTTON Manufacture.

The cotton manufacture was introduced into Europe by the Arabs.
Abdulrahman III, about the year 930, caused it to be commenced in Spain,
from which country it spread slowly to other European lands. He also established extensive manufactures of silk and leather, and interested himself much in the culture of the silkworm. The Arabs were also the authors of the art of printing calicoes by wooden blocks, a great improvement on the old operation of painting by hand.

INVESTING FOR...

DON'T WAIT
to see what someone else is going to do—get hold of some of this land yourself—do it NOW, before it's too late, for you know that Acreage property in the line of advance of value is the greatest investment in the world.

Fortunes have been made by some small venture picked with discrimination.

We have for sale several tracts that can be bought at acreage prices now, but developments under way will make this land double in value within the next year, and it is impossible to predict the increase in value within the next few years.

YOUR OPPORTUNITY.

We have a tract of one hundred acres running from river to ocean within one-half mile of Seabreeze.

We have a tract of forty-five acres running from river to ocean within a quarter of a mile of Seabreeze.

We have a tract with about 2000 feet frontage on the river and 1500 on the ocean within a mile of Seabreeze.

We have a tract of 20 acres with 600 feet of river frontage half a mile from Seabreeze.

These Four Tracts Can Be Bought at Acreage Prices NOW but not for long.

We shall be glad to show them and to quote you prices if you mean business.

We can also quote you a price on 86 acres running from river to ocean just south of and adjoining a large tract that has been bought for development purposes.

We also have several residences that must be sold and will be sold at prices below their actual cost.

Call and see us if you wish to invest in property that will pay you a big return.

S. A. Pierce of Providence, R. I., purchased recently through the R. L. Smith real estate agency a strip of land owned by F. N. Conrad and the Bond Lumber company and located between Ridgewood Avenue and the railroad on the north line of the city. Through the same agency Mr. Pierce also bought from Conrad Stubenhorn the property south of his residence on the east side of Ridgewood Avenue, fronting 575 feet on that avenue and running back 500 feet. The property on the west side of Ridgewood, including other purchases in addition to that from Mr. Conrad and the Bond Lumber company, has a frontage of 700 feet. Mr. Pierce conducts an auctioneering business in the north, particularly of real estate, and will cut the property purchased here into building lots and put them on the market. He has had many years of experience and has been very successful in this line and proposes to improve and sell this property along the same lines he has adopted in his business north.

Stopped Waste of Water.

Water-waste detection has been made a science by the present city engineer of London. By its application he has reduced the daily consumption ten gallons per head of population. This saving is simply enormous. In London alone it is enough water to meet the wants of a city of 400,000 inhabitants.

Self-Made.

It is better to be a self-made man—filled up according to God's original pattern—than to be a half-man—made after some other man's pattern.—J. G. Holland.

Timely Beauty.

"George, dear," said the young wife, "you are growing handsomer every day." "Yes, darling," replied the knowing George. "It's a way I have just before your birthday."—Peck-Hendricks.

Poor Sustenance.

Hope soon grows gaunt when it is fed on nothing but promises.

Arbitration.

"Papa, what does 'arbitration' mean?" "It means that when two powers of equal strength get hold of a smaller country, they agree to divide it equally."—Life.

Speeding the Guest.

The hostess was so weary, after an inordinately long call from a bore, that when he at last rose to go she was almost incapable of coherent speech, and her verbs in consequence changed places in her final effort at hospitality. It ran as follows: "Oh, Mr. Peters, must you stay? Can't you go?"

"Wanted 'em back."

"Our engagement is at an end, forever!" said the angry bride, stamping her foot. "Oh, very well," answered the young man, easily. "I shall take my presents with me."
